OUR TEAM

Victoria Gheorghina

A work of fiction is created in the imagination of its author. The author invents the story and makes up the characters. A fictional work does not claim to tell a true story, but it can inspire, intrigue, and engage us in new ideas. It can help us see ourselves and our world in new and interesting ways. That's why working with fiction authors is amazing.

Vanessa Laplace

Being able to work with fiction authors is great as I have the opportunity to explore and dive into an ocean of fascinating writings of all genres, and working with such authors is a privilege. We give all inspiring authors the chance to publish their fiction works of all kinds, and - what could be better! - its free of charge!

Tamara Daicu

Publishing fiction books is an incredible experience. Communicating with authors of fiction brings a lot of pleasure as they share a part of themselves with me by sending me a manuscript. Literature is something that is inexplicably close to me, and I am honored to be involved in the development of new books.
